Q&A WITH JOHN MCDONALD COMPANY:

What led you to your current profession?

Destiny! My father started our family business. Even though I did not plan to work with him, the universe had this vision, and it pushed me into a profession that I have tremendous passion and creativity for.

What are the key influences in your work today?

Our primary influence is always the same—the client. I love extracting our clients' desires and then advising them of the architecturally correct style and finishes to create a home that is an accurate extension of their personalities, lifestyle and taste.

Which awards mean the most to you?

The Prism Awards' Best of Show, which we have been awarded multiple times, is a tremendous honor. The Best in American Living Awards (BALA) means so much since our work is among the best in America.
